

Holocaust Literature

This course will focus on the literature of the Holocaust, both fiction and non-fiction, and on the impact this literature has had on modern thinking. Additionally, students will expand their knowledge of the Holocaust itself as well as the history of anti-Semitism. In doing so, they will engage with texts that may be emotionally challenging, yet have enormous historical significance. Travel to Munich, Nuremberg, and Amsterdam will be an integral part of the class.

Program Details

December 13-22, 2018

The Netherlands and Germany

Course Credit: ENG 321

$3,510

Program Highlights

Visit the Anne Frank House in Amsterdam

Travel to the zeppelin field and Nazi Documentation Center in Nuremberg

Visit Munich and the Dachau Concentration Camp in Bavaria

For more information, contact Professor Ann Jordan

jordana@winthrop.edu

