

International Communication in Italy

MCOM 302: International Communication

This course is designed to help students understand the influence of media ownership and news flow, governmental influences on the media, and information delivery systems and how these affect the news gathering and distribution process.

MCOM 464: Mass Communication Practicum

This course will give students an international platform to apply what they learn in class to a real-world project. Students can choose their media project from the following: podcast, presentation slide show, natural sound package, or mini-documentary.

Program Details

March 9-17, 2019

Rome, Florence, and Venice, Italy

Course Credit: MCOM 464 or 302

$3,845

Program Highlights

Take a guided tour of Vatican City and ancient Rome

Visit the Duomo in Florence and explore the canals of Venice

Visit Italian communication agencies and media

For more information, contact Professor Bonnye Stuart or Professor Mark Nortz

stuartb@winthrop.edu

nortzm@winthrop.edu

